The Young Men's Movement for Hungary. In The Tribune of this morning you say

Permit me, as a friend of Hungary in America and one of those engaged in the movement concerning which your remarks were made, to at tempt an answer to your question and compliance with your request. Pardon me if I seem at first to digress from the matter in hand tween Kings and Princes—the mighty of the earth quar-reled among themselves and fought; the People were their oppressors, fought and slew each other, and when the struggle was over, the oppressors settled the quarrel, which concerned themselves alone, and re-

The aspect of the world has changed; the strife is no longer between Princes; it is between ideas-between the idea of Freedom and the idea of Despotism. The People have been aroused from their long slumbs off the yoke of the contemptible minority t the mastres the mighty, and assert there to be the Divine the esserce the mighty, and assert there to be the Divine Right of Government. In this war of Opinion, the Hungarian People are now overmatched. They are surrounded by Cimmerian darkness; the journals of their country and the neighboring nations call them rebels and anarchists; their triends speak of them as abandoned and God accursed; the educated, the learned, the respectable of Europe, are leagued against them. Everything which can act through the mind to palsy the arm is directed against them; all the combined hosts of antiquated Knowledge and misdirected Talent are marshaled to discourage them.

can set through the hour opens of antiquated against them; all the combined hosts of antiquated Knowledge and misdirected Talent are marshaled to discourage them.

Now what we mean to do is to range ourselves on their side in this War of Opinion. Europe says to them, "You are wrong, you are accurred of God and Man." America should say, "You are right; you are batting in a sacred cause—God will be with you."—butting in a sacred cause—God will be with you."—butting in a sacred cause—God will be with you."—but the say this in the most striking manner in our power; and for this purpose we propose to send them a banner as a testimony of our approval of their cause—aperpetual witness that the young men of New York believe the Hungarians to be on the side of Justice and Right. We are persuaded from the emotions of our own hearts that this will be more powerful than the value of the banner sent in money.

There is another point of view which I shall notice but slightly; I have siways admired your paper as emphatically the supporter of the poor Many against the rich Few. I am grieved that you should now propose a mode of action which would shut out the poor from all expressions of sympathy for their brethren in Hungary. There are hundreds upon hundreds—yes, thou sands upon thousands—of poor mean this city who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow; who are here by since sant toli; any contribution from these would necessarity be small—as small that it would be trifing if it had no extrinse value, if it were not an expression if it had no extrinse value, if it were not an expression of a support of the poor mean that are here by incessant toli; any contribution from these would necessarity be small—as small that it would be trifing if it had no extrinse value, if it were not an expression

It appears that during the last year the American flag, at the consulate in Tunis, had been in suited by the Bey, who had imprisoned the drageman of the consul. For several years there has also been an unadjusted claim upon the Bey of John Howard Payne, our former Consul at that place. During the last Spring, instructions were sent to our Consul, Dr. Heep, to demand payment of the claim, sind, at the same time, proper atousment for the insult to the American flag, to which we have referred. A duplicate of these instructions was intrusted to Commodore Morgan, who, under the order of the President, visited the Bey in the steamer Mississippi. Before the arrival of the Commodore at Tunis, the Bey had agreed to pay the money due to Mr. Payne. The gailant Commodore fatthfully obeyed the instructions of the Secretary of State, and has obtained all the atonement for the outrage which was desired.

He called in person on the Bey on the 1st of August, and was received in the most friendly manner: the Bey treating him with the most
